Do you know the difference between civil and criminal trials?

Civil trials deal with crimes like traffic offences and libel/slander. Punishments are typically fines.

Criminal trials deal with crimes like murder. Punishments are more severe, including prison.

Fleet Street is one of the oldest roads outside the original city of London. It runs east from Temple Bar - the boundary between the Cities of London and Westminster, crossing Chancery Lane, Fetter Lane and Whitefriars Street to reach Ludgate Circus. And has been a place for businesses since the Middle Ages. Tanning of animal hides was a popular business, which would have added to the pong!

Antony Gormley Resolution

Shoe Lane was once known as Sholand, taking its name from the ancient 'Sho Well' which was located to the north. And here's some tweet worthy trivia — this area was famous for cockfighting. Samuel Pepys and other men of society would regularly frequent the cockfights here.

Try making your own mini Antony Gormley statue using old cardboard boxes!

Lots of well-known people visited Shoe Lane. William Shakespeare would come to visit an Italian scholar called John Florio. He was the go-to guy for anything Italian at the time. It's thought Shakespeare consulted him regarding dialogue for Romeo & Juliet.
